Preventon's solution has a highly intuitive and refined user-interface that takes the guesswork out of installing and configuring a firewall: aimed at the non-technical Internet user, Preventon Personal Firewall Pro maximizes security whilst minimizing the time and support needed to set it up.

AN 'APPROPRIATE' DRM SOLUTION FOR ISPs

With the continuing growth of Internet penetration comes a new class of subscriber who is not a PC expert but who still requires the security that an effective personal firewall can offer. Traditional personal firewall products were developed for 'prosumers' or corporate users, who typically have the luxury of IT support specialists to install and configure their systems. These products were inappropriate for use by the new wave of less experienced ISP home-subscribers: the Internet users who are unlikely to be able to configure these 'corporate' products effectively, resulting in a poor security setup and leaving ISPs with many dissatisfied subscribers. As a simple to use, corporate-grade application, Preventon Personal Firewall Pro is an appropriate solution to an increasingly frustrating problem.

With its simple configuration and "tick in a box" options, Preventon Personal Firewall PRO has been specifically designed to address the home PC user market, providing class-leading protection with minimal support requirements.
